Cash flow of a company is a key indicator to show the extent of cash generated from operations to meet its capital expenditure, pay dividends, repay loans, and make new investments without raising finance from external resources. Such negative cash flows lead to a net decrease in cash and cash equivalents. Any negative cash flow in future could adversely affect our operations and financial conditions and the trading price of our Equity Shares. For further details, please refer “Financial Information” and “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Position and Results of Operations” on pages 192 and 197, respectively of the Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

Our Company has outstanding payable to Micro, Small, and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs). As per regulatory requirements, payments to Micro, Small, and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) must be made within 45 days of receiving goods or services. Any delay in meeting this obligation could result in legal penalties, interest liabilities, and reputational risks. Non-compliance may also impact our relationships with MSME suppliers, potentially leading to supply chain disruptions and operational inefficiencies. Failure to adhere to these timelines could adversely affect our financial position and business operations.

Following Risk Factors will be updated:

a) The following table will be added in existing risk factor no. 5:

5. Our Major Exports are to Egypt, United States, Russia, Republic of Korea, United Kingdom, Japan and Germany. Any loss of business from any of these countries may adversely affect our revenues and profitability.

b) The existing risk factor no. 38 will be updated as follows:

38. If we do not successfully develop or commercialise new products in a timely manner, or if the products that we commercialise do not perform as expected, our business, results of operations and financial condition may be adversely affected:

Our success depends significantly on our ability to develop and commercialise new products in a timely manner. The development and commercialisation processes are both time-consuming and costly and involve a high degree of business risk. During these periods, our competitors may be developing similar products of which we may be unaware that could compete directly or indirectly with our products under development. Due to the prolonged period of time for developing a new product and delays associated with regulatory approval process, we may invest resources in developing products that will face competition of which we are currently unaware. Such unforeseen competition may hinder our ability to effectively plan the timing of our product development, which could have an adverse impact on our results of operations and financial condition. The Company is presently not undertaking any activities in relation to the development of new products.

c) The existing risk factor no. 47 will be updated as follows:

47. We may face numerous protective trade restrictions, including anti-dumping laws, countervailing duties and tariffs, which could adversely affect our revenue from exports.

Protectionist measures, including anti-dumping laws, countervailing duties and tariffs and government subsidization adopted or currently contemplated by governments in some of our export markets could adversely affect our sales from exports. Antidumping duty proceedings or any resulting penalties or any other form of import restrictions may limit our access to export markets for our products, and in the future additional markets could be closed to us as a result of similar proceedings, thereby adversely impacting our sales from exports or limiting our opportunities for growth.

Tariffs are often driven by local political pressure in a particular country and therefore there can be no assurance that quotas or tariffs will not be imposed on us in the future. If such protective trade restrictions are imposed on us, our imports and exports could decline. Further, a decrease in exports from India or an increase in aluminium imports to India because of protective trade restrictions could have a negative impact on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Following Risk Factors will be Removed:

a) Risk factor no. 52 will be removed.
